Party Pep

Health and Happiness

Happiness is the goal toward which all efforts in life are directed.

Some of us strive and struggle for years to reach our ideal happiness only to find that our health is ruined and we are unable to enjoy the fruits of our labor. Some of us are handicapped in our efforts by tortured nerves, an impaired digestion, a weak heart, or any one of thousands of ills that afflict mankind.

The average man or woman is naturally healthy. Disease is usually the result of violating the laws of health. Nature almost invariably warns us when we violate these laws. If we would heed her warnings the sum of human suffering, failure, and misery would be very greatly diminished.

Use Dr. Miles' Medicines

according to directions at the first symptom of any of the ailments for which we recommend them. Their prompt use may save you much suffering, loss of time, and financial loss.

Even if your trouble is of long standing, do not hesitate. The men and women whose experiences are printed in this book and thousands of others found relief through the use of these medicines after other treatments and other medicines failed.

Party Pep

EVERYONE WANTS to have a good time and every man or woman would like to be known as a good entertainer. It is really not very difficult. The American when he goes to a party is usually out for a good time and is willing to co-operate with the rest of the crowd in order to have it.

The man or girl who can suggest something to do that will engage the activities of the crowd can easily turn a stilted, half-embarrassed party into a riot of fun.

Party Pep is gotten out with the sole idea of putting pep into pokey parties. Those who entertain at home and those who are called on to furnish entertainment for church, lodge, or other informal social gatherings, may find in it something to help them solve their problems.

Many of the games are put on impromptu and require no preparation. They may be suggested by any one at any time when things begin to lag.

Getting the bashful ones Acquainted

Five of the members of the party are given dimes. None of the guests save those who have the dimes knows who have them. It is then announced that five of the guests have a dime each and that the twentieth one who shakes hands with the moneyed person gets the dime. This immediately starts a round of hand shaking which may be continued for five or six minutes. The dime holders who have kept count of the number of hand shakers, then come forward and award the dimes.

Alphabetical Travels

This may be played by any number of people. Each player takes a different letter of the alphabet. Starting with A, the player who is A must give a sentence naming a city or a country beginning with A and having each principal word in the sentence begin with A. Thus the player could say, "When I was in Africa, antelopes were eating apples from Australia."

B could say, "In Bombay, bobbed-haired bandits kidnapped Bobby Browning." And so on through the alphabet down to Z.

Honest Testimonials from Honest People

TESTIMONIALS? They come to us literally by the hundred and they're voluntary.

The good people who write them know that they will get nothing out of them except the satisfaction of helping their afflicted fellow man.

You must be more than merely satisfied with anything before you will voluntarily take the time and the trouble to sit down and write the maker how much you think of it. You must be filled with enthusiasm about it.

You may read the experiences described in this or any other Dr. Miles book with the absolute assurance that they are the real experiences of real people.

Every testimonial that we publish is from a user who has had experience with Dr. Miles' Medicines—not one or two doses but for months or years. We never publish a testimonial unless the writer has used our medicines for at least six months.

Some of our older friends speak from an experience of ten, twenty, thirty or more years.

If you suffer from any of the disorders listed on page 32, do not hesitate to try the medicines suited to your case. You take no risk in using Dr. Miles' Medicines. Dr. Miles money back guarantee means exactly what it says.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

(In Liquid Form)

For Nervousness, Sleeplessness due to Nervousness, Hysteria, Nervous Irritability, Nervous Dyspepsia, Nervous Headache, Neuralgia.

FOR nearly fifty years. Dr. Miles' Nervine has been used with success in the treatment of these and other nervous troubles.

When you are gloomy and irritable; when you start at sudden noises and can't sleep; when your heart is sound but jumps and palpitates—something is wrong with your nerves.

Many other uncomfortable and painful disorders are due to imperfect distribution of nerve force.

Every organ and function of the body is under the control of the nerves. It naturally follows that disordered nerves may affect any of these organs or functions.

Nervous disorders seldom correct themselves. A few doses of Dr. Miles' Nervine may save you days or weeks of suffering.

If you have neglected these first symptoms and are suffering from a serious nervous disorder, you owe it to yourself to try this time-tested medicine.

Dr. Miles' Nervine frequently relieves after other medicines and other treatments have failed.

It is sold under the Dr. Miles' guarantee of money back if not entirely satisfied that you are better, after taking the first bottle.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Tablets

(Effervescent)

CAN I get Dr. Miles' Nervine in tablet form?" Why don't you make Nervine Tablets?" These questions have been asked us many times in the past.

In response to this demand we now offer Dr. Miles' Nervine Tablets (Effervescent), which are exactly the same medical formula as Dr. Miles' Nervine in liquid form.

Each tablet equals two teaspoonfuls of Dr. Miles' Nervine—Liquid Form.

These new effervescent tablets contain effervescent salts which act as a stomachic and make the tablets especially adapted for use when the stomach is weak or easily upset.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Tablets (Effervescent) will be appreciated by many.

1. Those who should take the medicine regularly and at the proper time may carry one or two tablets in an envelope, in pocket or hand-bag.
2. Those who prefer to take a clear, unsweetened nerve medicine.
3. Travelers who do not want to take liquid medicine in their traveling bags or trunks because a broken bottle might spoil clothing and personal belongings.

The Cowardly Attack

After being blindfolded two men lie down side by side on the floor. They are told that the different people in the room will tap them with a folded paper or a handkerchief. Each time either is struck he must shout, "I am the victim of a cowardly attack" and grab for the feet or the ankles of the one who has hit him. If he succeeds in catching anyone, that one must be the next to be blindfolded.

The man who knows the game removes his blindfold and begins to tap the novice. Of course, the novice cries out the correct sentence and grabs for feet or ankles. To keep up the deception, the other man also repeats the same sentence. It is usually some time before the novice discovers that he is the victim of a joke.

MOTHER, you need something for those nerves. Why don't you try Dr. Miles' Nervine?"

Mrs. J. J. Tennyson is one of those kind hearted women who cannot bear to see anyone suffer if she can prevent it. She gave us her mother's experience.

"My mother, Mrs. Sarah Packard, has been very nervous all her life. She is taking Dr. Miles' Nervine and it has helped her wonderfully."

When Mrs. Tennyson's husband was very greatly troubled with constipation and found nothing that seemed to relieve him, Mrs. Tennyson again thought of Dr.

Miles and persuaded her husband to try Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets. His experience may be of help to others who are constipated.

"My husband, J. J. Tennyson, is taking Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets and they are doing fine for him. He has terrible times with his bowels. He took many different medicines but at last I bought a box of your Laxative Tablets and we now keep them on hand."

Mrs. J. J. Tennyson,

When the guests are assembled much amusement may be had by guessing the "tea" that each party present represents.

Cracker Contest

The girls, each one with two crackers in her hand, line up on one side of the room and the boys on the other. At a given signal each boy rushes to the girl opposite him and gets the crackers. They return to their starting places, face about and eat the crackers. Then they must go back to the girl, kneel, and whistle a tune, which the girl must recognize and name. The first girl to name the whistled tune wins the contest.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for Headache

Honest Testimonials from Honest People

DOWN IN Morristown, Tennessee, there is a woman who could not sleep well.

She would wake up and walk the floor until she was completely tired out. She took medicines until she was disgusted with the sight of them. That was before she found a little book which told her about Dr. Miles' Nervine. She went right out and bought a bottle. Although she had been in this nervous condition for about six years, she commenced to get better. You, who are sleepless, will do well to profit by her experience.

"I want to speak a word for Dr. Miles' Nervine, as it has done so much for me. I could not sleep at night, I was so nervous. I would walk the floor for hours until I had worn myself out. Then I would go to bed and just lie there, but could not sleep. I tried every kind of medicine and nothing would make me sleep until I picked up a little book someone had left at my door. I read about others who had been relieved and went out and bought a bottle of Nervine. After I had taken four doses. I knew it was just what I needed.

"I am glad to tell others of this wonderful medicine. It did so much for me. I want to thank Dr. Miles' for it. I can say that I think Nervine is as good as gold and I never will be without it, but will always keep it in my room."

WHEN A man changes from out-door to indoor work, it sometimes brings on unpleasant nervous disturbances.

Mr. J. D. Simpson had worked in the open for fifty years. For twenty-six of them, he was an R. F. D. Mail Carrier. Naturally when he gave up this line of work, his nerves went back on him.

Mr. Simpson is an enthusiastic user of Dr. Miles' Medicines.

"I was greatly troubled in going to sleep. I would get out of bed and walk the streets and sometimes that would not do me any good so I would stay up all night.

"I think this was brought on by giving up my outside work, as I was broken down in health after fifty years of teaming, twenty-six years of which I was an R. F. D. Mail Carrier.

"I took three bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine, and while I am a man seventy-six years old, I feel as young as I did 20 years ago.

"I can speak as well for all the other remedies."

J. D. Simpson,
North Franklin, Conn.

"Your Nervine has been used in our home for many years. It was my Mother's greatest help and comfort during her lifetime. I send you these lines of true message as I wish to help others to know of your wonderful Nervine medicine."

Upside Down Quartet

Four members of the party who may or may not be able to sing stand behind a sheet with only heads showing. Two other members of the party are holding the sheet. After one verse of the song is sung the singers crouch down so that their heads are out of sight. By the time they are ready to start the second verse, feet instead of heads are showing

This is done by having each singer put shoes and stockings or galoshes over his hands and arms and stick them up over the sheet holding his head out of view of the audience while the second verse is sung.

An interesting variation of this is to have one of the parties holding the sheet drop it just before the end of the second verse.

IT IS safe to say that hundreds of thousands of people have received friendly medical advice from this company. We believe that a very large percentage who have received our advice and followed it have been much benefitted.

Mrs. A. B. Hoyle of Searcy, Arkansas, wrote us several years ago about her husband, who was subject to nervous attacks. After taking Dr. Miles' Nervine for a short time, Mr. Hoyle was able to make out his own reports to us and within a comparatively short time he felt so much better that he did not feel the need of any more medicines. Mr. Hoyle says,

"Your medicines sure have helped me wonderfully. A man came along a few days ago, whose wife was very nervous and he could not seem to find any treatment that helped her. I told him of your Nervine. She stopped all other treatments and started taking it and is much better."

A. B. Hoyle,

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nervine with wonderfully good results. My mother, Mrs. J. M. Cooper, sent you a testimonial twenty-five years ago. I was taking your Nervine at that time for a serious nervous breakdown, and the results were fine."

Jones Family. If his answer is anything but YES or NO, what he says is repeated by his questioners and he is asked the same question again until he finally gives the correct answer, after which another candidate is sent for and the question is repeated.

It makes the game more interesting if the person who asks the question gives a little talk describing the Jones Family and telling the advantages of belonging to such a family.

Buzz.

Any number of people may play. Each one calls out a number in turn, starting at one and going on until all are out of the game. The word Buzz must be used whenever the number is seven, a multiple of seven, or is written with a seven. Thus, seven, fourteen, seventeen, twenty-one, twenty-seven, twenty-eight, etc. are Buzz numbers. The seventies are counted Buzz 1, Buzz 2, Buzz 3, etc.

Any player who calls a number when he should say Buzz or says Buzz when he should say a number is out of the game. The player who stays longest is the winner.

Another way of playing that keeps everybody in the game all the time is to start at one after a player has made a mistake.

DR. MILES' Anti-Pain Pills relieve. That's the foundation on which the demand for them has been built. That's the basis on which they always have been and always will be, sold—money back if they fail to relieve.

Thousands who have suffered from headache, backache, earache, toothache; neuralgic, rheumatic, sciatic, and periodic pains have written us of the relief they have received by using these time-tested, pleasant tasting little tablets.

For more than a generation Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills have been making good with a constantly increasing number of users.

That's why you can go into any one of more than fifty thousand drug stores and get Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills.

"Brought relief when all else failed"

"I used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for many years and they have brought relief from pain when all else failed. Have been subject to severe pains in my neck and no one has ever been able to find the cause or the cure for them. They have caused me untold suffering and your Anti-Pain Pills are the only remedy that I ever found that gave me relief."

R. F. D. No. 1, No. Dana, Mass.

Flashing Fingers

The leader gives a signal and each one of the players holds up as many fingers as he wants to and shouts his guess as to the total number of fingers held up by all the players.

No change may be made in the number of fingers held up and each player must keep his hand raised until the leader can count the fingers.

Guessing Baby Pictures

Each guest is asked to bring a photograph of himself taken when he was very young. Each picture is numbered and displayed in order and each player must write down on a slip of paper, furnished by the hostess, his guess as to the identity of the photographs. The hostess takes the papers and marks them according to the percentage of correct answers.

Dr. Miles' Nervine for Sleeplessness

Ever Have an Ache or a Pain?

SO HAS practically everybody else. The pain of Headache, Neuralgia, Backache, Toothache, Earache, Rheumatism, Neuritis or Monthly Periods is almost certain to make every one of us suffer sooner or later.

Pain is always an indication of a disordered physical condition. When you are in pain you should try to find and correct the disorder which causes it. It may take days, weeks, or months.

Does it help you in any way to continue to suffer all this time? Common sense and good medical practice agree that it does not. In fact, it is harmful.

Continued pain exhausts nerve force, lessens resistance, tends to aggravate the cause of your trouble, and may lead to further disorders. The best thing to do when you are suffering is to relieve the pain.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills Usually Relieve

For many years, they have been helping thousands thru their dark hours of suffering and pain. The hearty indorsement given them by their thousands of users is the best evidence of their effectiveness.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are pleasant to take. They do not constipate, or upset the stomach.

What is it?

One person leaves the room with the understanding that when he comes back he is to ask two questions of each one who remained in the room, in regard to some object which they have chosen during his absence. All questions must be such as can be answered by "Yes," "No" or "I don't know."

After this person has gone out the hostess explains to the other players that each is to fix on his left-hand neighbor as the object to be guessed. If the players are seated man and girl alternately, it makes the answer more difficult to find. For instance, he is speaking to a girl and he says, "Is it a man?" The answer is "Yes." If he asks the same question of the man seated next to her the answer is "No."

Only two questions are allowed to each person.

Mr. John Roecker of Kansas City, Missouri, always carries Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills with him and gives them away to sufferers whom he meets. Mr. Roecker is very enthusiastic. Below are a few extracts from the last letter he wrote us.

"I have used Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for twenty years or more. I have given away hundreds to sufferers from aches and pains with very excellent results. I could tell many interesting tales of the good work I have done by the use of these Anti-Pain Pills. I have stopped many kinds of pains with them and saved many days work for people that would have had to lay off, but after taking these pills they kept right on the job.

"Almost always after giving a person one or two of these pills he will go right off and buy a package. I have seen this happen not only in Kansas City, but all over Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and Missouri.

"I have never had any occasion to use any of your other medicines but if they are all as good as your Anti-Pain Pills they can't be beat."

center starts to tell a story about an automobile and whenever he mentions the name of a part of the automobile, the person who represents that part must get up and turn around. When the word automobile is spoken, everybody must get up and turn around. At the end of the story, the person in the middle says, "The automobile over-turned in the ditch." Then every one has to change seats, the leader, of course, trying to get a seat in the general confusion. The person who can find no place to sit has to be the story teller for the next trip of the automobile.

Who is My Neighbor?

In this game one half the players are blindfolded and seated so that there is room for another person to sit beside him. The leader either plays a tune on the piano or all agree to sing the same song at a given signal.

If the blindfolded person is able to tell from the voice who is sitting next to him, the person whose name is guessed must be blindfolded, the people who are not blindfolded change seats and the game is continued.

Conversation

Two players agree upon a word having several meanings. They build a talk around this word, hinting at its application in one of its meanings. Anyone who thinks he has guessed the word may join in the talk but must not say the word itself.

If the word "file" should be used, for instance, the conversation would have to do with work in an office, discussing order, classification, etc. When another person thinking he has guessed the word enters the conversation the two who originally started it switch to another meaning of the word and discuss soldiers or machine work that requires filing. Anyone who thinks he has the word may join the conversation at any time, and he may announce the word at any time after the first discussion of it, in which case the discoverer chooses a partner and the two of them choose the next word for discussion.

One or two persons leave the room while the others agree upon a word of several different meanings. The players who went out now return and ask each one of those in the room a question. In the answer the word agreed upon must be repeated one or more times, but instead of using the actual word, the word "Tea-Kettle" must be substituted.

Suppose the words vain, vane and vein are chosen. The first question might be, "What is the word?" to which an appropriate answer might be, "Questions in that tea-kettle are not allowed and you have, therefore, asked your question in tea-kettle." If the question were, "What do you think of the weather?" the proper reply would be, "I am not tea-kettle enough to pose as a prophet but the tea-kettle indicates north winds and colder weather."

DR. MILES' GUARANTEE

If you believe that any of our medicines are suited to your case, go to your druggist and procure the medicine, and if you receive no benefit, return the empty bottle or package to druggist and he will refund your money.

There will be no fuss or quibble, no red tape, and no string to the proposition. The druggist will take your word for it. We pay him the amount he returns to you.

Our medicines usually relieve. This is particularly true where the nerves are involved. Taken according to directions, Dr. Miles' Medicines will not harm you.

If the medicine relieves, you are satisfied: if it does not, it costs you nothing. We do not want you to pay for something that does you no good.

We guarantee only the first bottle or package, which is sufficient to prove whether or not it will benefit you.

We do not guarantee a cure; no honest person would do that, but when you have tried a medicine you know whether or not to continue its use.
